Digital transformation that makes sense!

Award-winning document scanners and information processing solutions from Kodak Alaris make it easy to transform your data chaos into a strategic business advantage.

Kodak Alaris and its partners now offer award-winning document scanners, software solutions, and services to all purchasing members of the Keystone Purchasing Network (KPN).

Kodak Alaris is proud to offer its products and services on the Keystone Purchasing Network, making it easier for businesses of all kinds to benefit from a wide range of scalable and customizable data capture and processing solutions. Kodak Alaris enables KPN partners and customers to:
- Accelerate business performance with intelligent automation that quickly transforms large volumes of data into information your business can use.

- Improve data accuracy by applying business rules that eliminate the manual processes and human errors that lead to rework and data handling risks.

- Save time and money by automating legacy processes, reducing IT maintenance requirements, and freeing resources to focus on more high-value work.

Save time and money by automating data processing workflows!

Improved speed, accuracy, and profitability.

Converting documents of various types into business data that's ready to use should be a fast, accurate, and simple process. With superior scanning technology and workflow automation solutions, Kodak Alaris delivers.

Kodak Alaris provides intelligent data capture technology that goes to work for you immediately and integrates seamlessly with your business systems to make your data processing workflows faster, more secure, and more cost effective.

Kodak Capture Pro Software

Capture Pro Software unlocks business-critical data and puts it to work for you. Capture Pro automatically recognizes, extracts, and indexes scanned documents and gets the data where it needs to be across your organization.

Kodak Info Input Solution

Info Input Solution is a web-based and mobile solution that makes it easy to solve your distributed data challenges. Info Input is like a conductor, directing data from various sources across the enterprise so that you can seamlessly connect people to documents, documents to processes, and processes to systems.

INfuse Smart Connected Scanning

The INfuse Smart Connected Scanning Solution is an intelligent, partner-focused solution that provides an unprecedented opportunity for channel partners to streamline expensive business processes and quickly grow new revenue streams. INfuse offers network-connected capture that sits at the front edge of an organization's process and integrates directly into line of business systems. Content is onboarded directly into business processes and users receive real-time notifications at the point of scanning.

Kodak Alaris is where digital transformation starts.

From the point of entry all the way to your various systems and repositories, we get your business-critical data where it needs to be—helping your business improve its speed, accuracy, and profitability.
